*Taking a glance at Greek Culture
(Examples of Greek Culture)*

A characteristic aspect of Greek culture is that we give wishes for almost everything!

“Χρόνια πολλά”
which means
may you live for lots
of years,
is a must both on
birthdays and name
days

On birthdays there is also a wish going “Na ta ekatostisis”
meaning
may you live for 100
years

Χρόνια πολλά!

Και του χρόνου!

On name days you can also hear

“ke tou hronou”

which means

may you celebrate the day next year too.

But be careful not use

this wish on a wedding!

On such occasions stick to

“Na zisete”

meaning

may you live long

or

“Na eiste rizomenoi”

may you be like tall

trees with deep roots!

And if you find these wishes ordinary remember that ...

Με τις υγείες σου

many Greek wish “me tis igies sou”
when a member of a
family has taken a
bath, meaning
may you be healthy

σιδερένιος

or

“siderenios”

may you be strong as
iron

when a friend has recovered from a
disease

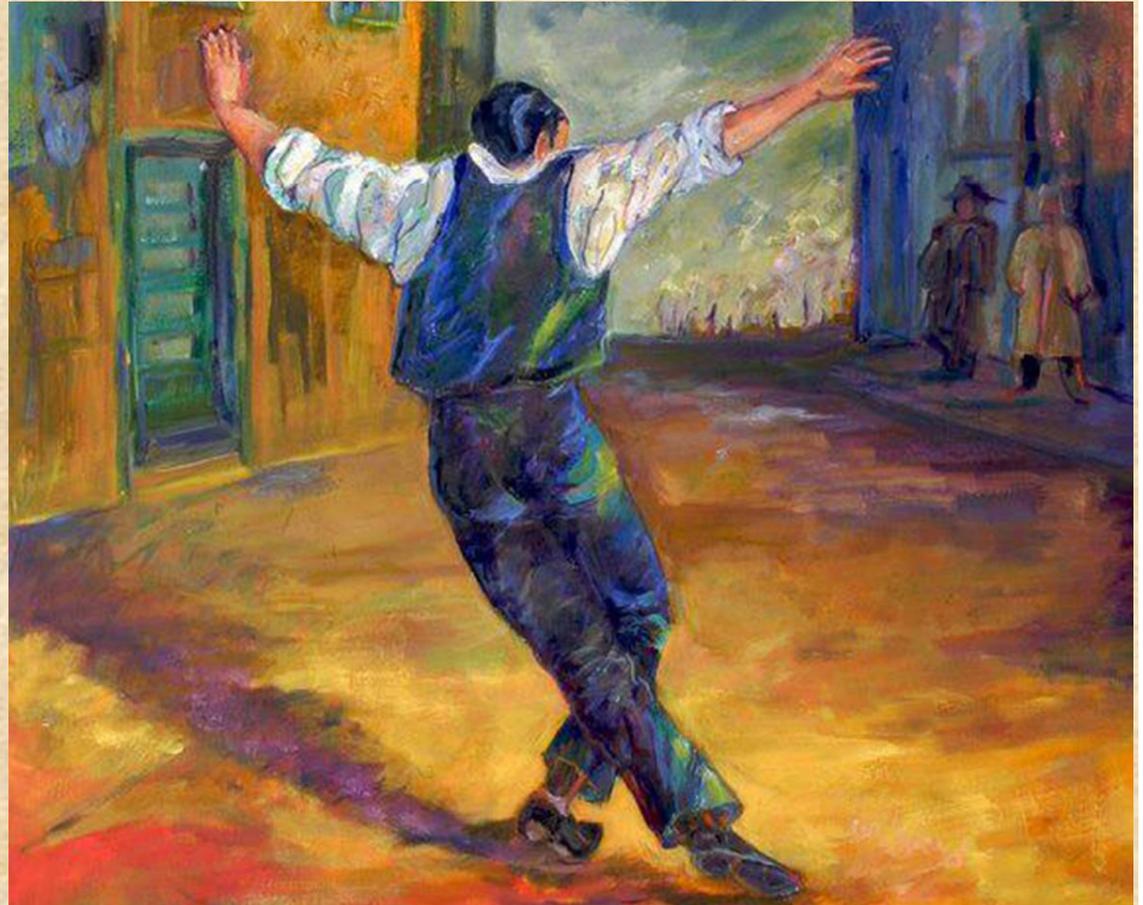

Greek usually talk loud and fast.
They smile a lot and like being close to the people they are talking to. They use a lot of gestures and facial expressions.

Remember that a very common gesture to Europeans, extending the hand and showing number five with fingers open, is considered a very rude gesture in Greece.

Greeks like dancing a lot, from “bouzouki music” (laika) to pop and rock songs. They don’t mind dancing with people except on the occasion of “zeibekiko”,

...when they have ordered a specific song to the band playing.

On this occasion it is best to leave the person dance alone on the floor surrounded by his friends who are clapping to the music.

Some decades ago breaking this rule was the cause of fights, even killings. Things have changed from then, however keep it in mind.

In the recent years there has also been a great interest in traditional Greek dances, which we think is an ideal way to get to know culture and at the same time to come close to people from different cultures.

So members of Oiko.poli.s are cooperating with cultural organizations and the Municipality of Chaidari in dancing classes and events.

Furthermore we organize poetry events in order to familiarize audiences with Greek and International poets.

History is also an element of culture. That's why we organized guided tours of Block 15, a notorious prison for resistant fighters during the German occupation in Greece in the 2nd World war.

The tours were organized for students of the broader area so that they would be aware of our history and the fight against fascism.
